FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

TANDEL SYSTEMS AWARDED PREFERRED CONTRACTOR STATUS UNDER STATE OF FLORIDA IT CONSULTING CONTRACT

Oldsmar FL, October 12, 2009 – Tandel Systems, Inc., a leading aerospace engineering and advanced technology IT solutions provider, announced today that it has been awarded preferred prime contractor status from the State of Florida Department of Management Services, Division of State Purchasing.

As preferred contractor in the areas of systems analysis and design, systems development and integration, operational support, and staff augmentation, Tandel Systems is eligible to receive requests for proposal or quotation from more than 125 state agencies and offices, in addition to county and municipal agencies statewide who are interested in contracting for IT services and solutions.

“We’re extremely pleased to have been awarded preferred supplier status by the State of Florida again this year,” company president Mike Varga said. “We continue to work with the state to expand our IT services and solutions offerings, and we have had an excellent experience working for state and local government thus far. This effort is a natural extension of our Federal contracts business.” This is the second consecutive time Tandel has been award the contract from the State of Florida.

Tandel Systems is also the developer of eVisioning, an integrated on-line asset management tool used by municipal airports and fleet operators. Originally developed for Department of Defense applications, eVisioning manages the location, assignment and deployment of assets as well as work order assignment and tracking, maintenance activity tracking and costing, purchase requisitions, documentation, and warranty management. “We hope to pursue the Florida asset management market with the help of the partners we selected for our IT Services contract response,” Mike Varga said, “Together we provide extensive geographical reach and technical depth.”

Our partners include: Alltech Consulting of Tallahassee, providing systems development and IT services to the Public Sector; Praxsys Technologies, Inc. of Clearwater providing software development and integration, data management and IT infrastructure services; and Staffing Providers, a State of Florida-certified W/MBE company based in Aventura providing IT staffing solutions.
